

EARTH SCIENCES HISTORY

Volume 38, No. 2, 2019

CONTENTS

|   |                |
|---|----------------|
| Letters from the President, Treasurer, Secretary and Editor's IntroductionIrina Podgorny, David Spanagel, Paul Brinkman and John Diemer  | ii–iv   |
| <hr/>   |                |
| The 1477 silver find at the St. Georg mine in Schneeberg and significant ore specimens in the Museum of Mineralogy and Geology in DresdenKlaus Thalheim  | 157–172 |
| The catalog of the mineralogical collection of the Emperor Leopold II (1747–1792): Collecting and learning in eighteenth-century EuropeAnnarita Franza, Rosanna Fabozzi, Letizia Vezzosi, Luciana Fantoni, and Giovanni Pratesi  | 173–203 |
| Great glacial recession inferred from Swiss moraines by Scottish physicist John Leslie in 1796Paul F. Hoffman  | 204–214 |
| Late revisions to William Smith's 1815 map in the vicinity of Canonbie and Bewcastle in the BorderlandsRoy W. McIntyre   | 215–231 |
| Joseph Henry and geology at PrincetonDavis A. Young  | 232–275 |
| “Giant Birds of Old”: An 1837 poem by James Dwight Dana (?) on the supposed makers of the Connecticut Valley's fossil trackwaysJordan D. Marché II   | 276–298 |
| A visit to Louis-Albert Necker on the Isle of Skye, 1852Anita Hollier and John Hollier   | 299–326 |
| The origin of prehistoric archaeologyGian Battista Vai   | 327–356 |
| Military geology: An American term with German and French ancestryEdward P. F. Rose  | 357–370 |
| The history of geology walls in the former German speaking realm and their use as pedagogic tools for explaining geosciencesBarbara Mohr   | 371–387 |
| A three-step view for the history of geologyAlessandro Iannace   | 388–402 |
| To explore the unexplored—a geologist's path: A memoir of Jovan Stöcklin (1921–2008)Jamal Ghavi  | 403–421 |
| ElogésRobert H. Dott, Jr. (1929–2018) by Joanne Bourgeois   | 422–429 |
| Book Reviews edited by Paul LucierMark P. Witton. Recreating an Age of Reptiles (2017) and The Palaeoartist's Handbook: Recreating Prehistoric Animals in Art (2018). Reviewed by Warren D. Allmon . | 430–435 |
| Helen Rozwadowski. Vast Expanses. A History of the Oceans (2018).Reviewed by Antony Adler .   |                |
| Jonathan Craig, Francesco Gerali, Fiona MacAuley, and Rasoul Sorkhabi. History of the European Oil and Gas Industry (2018). Reviewed by William R. Brice .  |                |
| Notes on Contributors   | 436–437 |
| Guidelines for Authors  | 438–439 |
| How to Join the History of Earth Sciences Society   | 440     |